

UNCLASSIFIED

~~SECRET~~ 1322-80

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

22 FEB 1980

MEMORANDUM FOR: Lt. General Eugene F. Tighe, Jr.
Director, Defense Intelligence Agency

SUBJECT : Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group

1. As you know, one of the elements of our effort to revivify the national estimates program is the creation of a substantive staff, called the Analytic Group, as a constituent part of the National Intelligence Council. We intend in this way to improve the standard of estimative writing and, in the process, to spare other agencies from having to disrupt their own production programs to provide drafters for most individual estimates.

2. We intend to staff the Analytic Group with intelligence officers on rotational tours of two to three years. To do this, we attach considerable importance to gaining the participation and perspective of other intelligence agencies. Accordingly, we invite you to suggest outstanding candidates for possible rotational assignments -- beginning this year.

STAT

3. We are looking for officers who have sophisticated substantive expertise and demonstrated competence in the analysis of large-scale problems, with either regional or a functional expertise. In addition, they must be familiar with substantive fields related to their major field of expertise. Equally important, they must be superior writers, since their primary task will be to organize and draft estimates and thereafter both defend and revise the drafts, under the guidance of the NIO chairman, through the interagency coordination process.

4. We are interested, therefore, in intelligence officers of a quality that any agency will be reluctant to give up. But the priority of the task requires that the standard for selection be high. Further, I believe that your own agency will benefit from the broadened experience and perspective which your officers will bring back with them at the end of their tour here.

UNCLASSIFIED

~~SECRET~~ -1372-80

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

22 FEB 1980

MEMORANDUM FOR: Rear Admiral S. Shapiro
Director of Naval Intelligence

SUBJECT : Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group

1. As you know, one of the elements of our effort to revivify the national estimates program is the creation of a substantive staff, called the Analytic Group, as a constituent part of the National Intelligence Council. We intend in this way to improve the standard of estimative writing and, in the process, to spare other agencies from having to disrupt their own production programs to provide drafters for most individual estimates.

2. We intend to staff the Analytic Group with intelligence officers on rotational tours of two to three years. To do this, we attach considerable importance to gaining the participation and perspective of other intelligence agencies. Accordingly, we invite you to suggest outstanding candidates for possible rotational assignments -- beginning this year.

STAT

3. We are looking for officers who have sophisticated substantive expertise and demonstrated competence in the analysis of large-scale problems, with either regional or a functional expertise. In addition, they must be familiar with substantive fields related to their major field of expertise. Equally important, they must be superior writers, since their primary task will be to organize and draft estimates and thereafter both defend and revise the drafts, under the guidance of the NIO chairman, through the interagency coordination process.

4. We are interested, therefore, in intelligence officers of a quality that any agency will be reluctant to give up. But the priority of the task requires that the standard for selection be high. Further, I believe that your own agency will benefit from the broadened experience and perspective which your officers will bring back with them at the end of their tour here.

~~REF ID: A661322-80~~

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

22 FEB 1980

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

MEMORANDUM FOR: Major General E. R. Thompson
Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence, Army

SUBJECT : Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group

1. As you know, one of the elements of our effort to revivify the national estimates program is the creation of a substantive staff, called the Analytic Group, as a constituent part of the National Intelligence Council. We intend in this way to improve the standard of estimative writing and, in the process, to spare other agencies from having to disrupt their own production programs to provide drafters for most individual estimates.

2. We intend to staff the Analytic Group with intelligence officers on rotational tours of two to three years. To do this, we attach considerable importance to gaining the participation and perspective of other intelligence agencies. Accordingly, we invite you to suggest outstanding candidates for possible rotational assignments -- beginning this year.

STAT

3. We are looking for officers who have sophisticated substantive expertise and demonstrated competence in the analysis of large-scale problems, with either regional or a functional expertise. In addition, they must be familiar with substantive fields related to their major field of expertise. Equally important, they must be superior writers, since their primary task will be to organize and draft estimates and thereafter both defend and revise the drafts, under the guidance of the NIO chairman, through the interagency coordination process.

4. We are interested, therefore, in intelligence officers of a quality that any agency will be reluctant to give up. But the priority of the task requires that the standard for selection be high. Further, I believe that your own agency will benefit from the broadened experience and perspective which your officers will bring back with them at the end of their tour here.

~~REF ID: A6~~ 1322-80

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

22 FEB 1980

MEMORANDUM FOR: Vice Admiral Bobby Rae Inman
Director, National Security Agency

SUBJECT : Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group

1. As you know, one of the elements of our effort to revivify the national estimates program is the creation of a substantive staff, called the Analytic Group, as a constituent part of the National Intelligence Council. We intend in this way to improve the standard of estimative writing and, in the process, to spare other agencies from having to disrupt their own production programs to provide drafters for most individual estimates.

2. We intend to staff the Analytic Group with intelligence officers on rotational tours of two to three years. To do this, we attach considerable importance to gaining the participation and perspective of other intelligence agencies. Accordingly, we invite you to suggest outstanding candidates for possible rotational assignments -- beginning this year.

STAT

3. We are looking for officers who have sophisticated substantive expertise and demonstrated competence in the analysis of large-scale problems, with either regional or a functional expertise. In addition, they must be familiar with substantive fields related to their major field of expertise. Equally important, they must be superior writers, since their primary task will be to organize and draft estimates and thereafter both defend and revise the drafts, under the guidance of the NIO chairman, through the interagency coordination process.

4. We are interested, therefore, in intelligence officers of a quality that any agency will be reluctant to give up. But the priority of the task requires that the standard for selection be high. Further, I believe that your own agency will benefit from the broadened experience and perspective which your officers will bring back with them at the end of their tour here.

~~SECRET~~ 1322-80

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

22 FEB 1980

MEMORANDUM FOR: Major General James L. Brown
Assistant Chief of Staff Intelligence, Air Force

SUBJECT : Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group

1. As you know, one of the elements of our effort to revivify the national estimates program is the creation of a substantive staff, called the Analytic Group, as a constituent part of the National Intelligence Council. We intend in this way to improve the standard of estimative writing and, in the process, to spare other agencies from having to disrupt their own production programs to provide drafters for most individual estimates.

2. We intend to staff the Analytic Group with [] intelligence officers on rotational tours of two to three years. To do this, we attach considerable importance to gaining the participation and perspective of other intelligence agencies. Accordingly, we invite you to suggest outstanding candidates for possible rotational assignments -- beginning this year.

STAT

3. We are looking for officers who have sophisticated substantive expertise and demonstrated competence in the analysis of large-scale problems, with either regional or a functional expertise. In addition, they must be familiar with substantive fields related to their major field of expertise. Equally important, they must be superior writers, since their primary task will be to organize and draft estimates and thereafter both defend and revise the drafts, under the guidance of the NIO chairman, through the interagency coordination process.

4. We are interested, therefore, in intelligence officers of a quality that any agency will be reluctant to give up. But the priority of the task requires that the standard for selection be high. Further, I believe that your own agency will benefit from the broadened experience and perspective which your officers will bring back with them at the end of their tour here.

ETAO 1322-80

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

22 FEB 1980

MEMORANDUM FOR: Brig. General C. D. Dean
Director of Intelligence, USMC

SUBJECT : Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group

1. As you know, one of the elements of our effort to revivify the national estimates program is the creation of a substantive staff, called the Analytic Group, as a constituent part of the National Intelligence Council. We intend in this way to improve the standard of estimative writing and, in the process, to spare other agencies from having to disrupt their own production programs to provide drafters for most individual estimates.

2. We intend to staff the Analytic Group with [] intelligence officers on rotational tours of two to three years. To do this, we attach considerable importance to gaining the participation and perspective of other intelligence agencies. Accordingly, we invite you to suggest outstanding candidates for possible rotational assignments -- beginning this year.

STAT

3. We are looking for officers who have sophisticated substantive expertise and demonstrated competence in the analysis of large-scale problems, with either regional or a functional expertise. In addition, they must be familiar with substantive fields related to their major field of expertise. Equally important, they must be superior writers, since their primary task will be to organize and draft estimates and thereafter both defend and revise the drafts, under the guidance of the NIO chairman, through the interagency coordination process.

4. We are interested, therefore, in intelligence officers of a quality that any agency will be reluctant to give up. But the priority of the task requires that the standard for selection be high. Further, I believe that your own agency will benefit from the broadened experience and perspective which your officers will bring back with them at the end of their tour here.

~~REF ID: A66132~~ 2-80

THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20505

Deputy Director for National Foreign Assessment

22 FEB 1980

MEMORANDUM FOR: Ambassador Ronald I. Spiers
Director, Bureau of Intelligence and Research
State Department

SUBJECT : Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group

Ron —

1. As you know, one of the elements of our effort to revivify the national estimates program is the creation of a substantive staff, called the Analytic Group, as a constituent part of the National Intelligence Council. We intend in this way to improve the standard of estimative writing and, in the process, to spare other agencies from having to disrupt their own production programs to provide drafters for most individual estimates.

2. We intend to staff the Analytic Group with intelligence officers on rotational tours of two to three years. To do this, we attach considerable importance to gaining the participation and perspective of other intelligence agencies. Accordingly, we invite you to suggest outstanding candidates for possible rotational assignments -- beginning this year.

STAT

3. We are looking for officers who have sophisticated substantive expertise and demonstrated competence in the analysis of large-scale problems, with either regional or a functional expertise. In addition, they must be familiar with substantive fields related to their major field of expertise. Equally important, they must be superior writers, since their primary task will be to organize and draft estimates and thereafter both defend and revise the drafts, under the guidance of the NIO chairman, through the interagency coordination process.

4. We are interested, therefore, in intelligence officers of a quality that any agency will be reluctant to give up. But the priority of the task requires that the standard for selection be high. Further, I believe that your own agency will benefit from the broadened experience and perspective which your officers will bring back with them at the end of their tour here.

UNCLASSIFIED

5. Let me ask you to give this matter your serious consideration and get in touch with Dick Lehman, Chairman of the National Intelligence Council, by 7 March with suggestions for candidates.

Bruce C. Clarke, Jr.

STAT

SUBJECT: Recruitment for Tours in the NIC Analytic Group (NFAC #1322-80)

Distribution:

- 1 - Multiple Addressees
- 1 - DD/NFA Chrono
- ① - C/NIC
- 1 - AC/NIC
- 1 - NFAC Registry